

Substantive Conclusion of Negotiations for the US-Singapore Free Trade Agreement (USSFTA), 16 January 2003

With the agreement on the free transfer of capital, the United States and Singapore have substantively concluded negotiations for the USSFTA. This was the only issue outstanding since the last round of negotiations held from 11 to 19 November 2002 in Singapore. The US and Singapore negotiating teams are now doing the legal scrubbing of the Agreement.
